Dr Susan Bulmer – A bibliography, 1956–2009

ALICE BULMER

Correspondence: Alice Bulmer, Hamilton, New Zealand. Email: alicebulmer@xtra.co.nz

This bibliography is organized into four sections. The first section includes Susan Bulmer’s main published works and theses. The second section includes reports and submissions written during her time working for the New Zealand Historic Places Trust and the Department of Conservation (1978–1994). Even though this volume focuses on Sue’s Papua New Guinea work, I think it is appropriate to include her New Zealand work in a definitive bibliography.

The third section contains significant work that was never published (for a variety of reasons), to the best of my knowledge. The fourth section is published book reviews.

Sue’s Papua New Guinea research material is currently held at Otago University. Some of the research material from her New Zealand work is held at Auckland Museum.

Figure 1. Susan Bulmer excavating in Papua New Guinea with local field assistants in 1959. Photograph by Ralph Bulmer. Original in University of Auckland Anthropology Department Photographic Archive.

PUBLISHED PAPERS, THESES, BOOK CHAPTERS, REPORTS

2004. Bulmer, S. A New York Yankee in Aotearoa. In M. Campbell (ed.), Digging into History, 50 Years of the New

NEW ZEALAND HISTORIC PLACES TRUST, NEW ZEALAND DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION (DOC) PUBLICATIONS, WAITANGI TRIBUNAL

UNPUBLISHED PAPERS AND SO ON

1987. Bulmer, S. Space and settlement size on the volcanic cone paa of Taamaki. Seminar paper, University of Auckland, Department of Anthropology.

1998. Bulmer, S. At the edge of the range: Rethinking the origins of agriculture in the New Guinea high valleys. Paper presented to the IPPA Congress, Melaka, Malaysia.

REVIEWS, CORRESPONDENCE

